CANADIAN SMALL BUSINESS TAX CHECKLIST

We want business owners to get every tax credit and deduction they're entitled to.

The two business structures H&R Block Canada services are:

· Sole-proprietorships

If you are a sole proprietor you do not need to file a separate tax return for your business income, you report your business income on your personal tax return (T1).

Small corporations

☐ Beginning inventory total dollar amount

☐ Ending inventory total dollar amount

Inventory

□ Utilities

□ Tools

□ Buildings

□ Cable/Internet

Capital Assets

☐ Home insurance payments

□ Vehicles used for business

□ Machinery and equipment

☐ Home maintenance and repair costs

□ Inventory purchases

If you run your business through a corporation, you have to file a separate return (T2) for your business income because your corporation is a separate legal entity under the Canadian Income Tax law.

What you need when filing:

Sole proprietor:
 □ All your T-slips for the year □ Information of any other income □ Business income and expenses compilation for the year to be filed – if bookkeeping is completed □ Invoices and receipt, payroll information and GST/HST returns – if bookkeeping is completed □ Latest Notice of Assessment □ Last year's return
If bookkeeping is not complete:
 Have an H&R Block Tax Expert do it for you. Use our simple receipt entry tool to add up business expenses yourself. Take advantage of our Wave partnership and access bookkeeping support quickly online.
Corporation:
 □ All T-slips the corporation received □ GST/HST return(s) for the tax year □ Financial statements and trial balance – if already prepared □ Invoices and receipts, payroll information, bank statements – if bookkeeping services are provided □ Last year's return □ Copy of incorporation papers □ Latest Notice of Assessment □ Accounts receivable at end of fiscal year □ Amounts payable at end of fiscal year □ Employee deductions payable at end of fiscal year □ Copy of minute book/director's resolutions □ Fixed Asset Continuity Schedule □ Loan statements at end of fiscal year
Business Income
 □ Gross receipts from sales or services □ Sales records □ Returns and allowances □ Business chequing/savings account interest □ Other income □ Accounts receivable at end of fiscal year (cash ☐ Items removed for personal purposes □ Materials and supplies Expenses □ Advertisina ☐ Business insurance – for business assets, liability □ Vehicle expenses – fuel, insurance, lease/bill of sale, payments with interest, repairs, maintenance, parking, car washes ☐ Mileage log or kilometers driven for business purposes ☐ Payroll data for employees; PD7A; statement of account for current source deductions ☐ Other employee expenses ☐ Professional fees – lawyers, accountants, and consultants ☐ Office supplies ☐ Interest expense – business loans, investments expenses and interest □ Travel ☐ Rent/Property tax □ Utilities ☐ Accounts payable at end of fiscal year (cash basis) ☐ Meals and entertainment: receipts should have a list of who attended and the purpose of the meeting/event Home Office Expenses If you work out of your home, you may be able to deduct a portion of your home offices expenses. The tax rules differ, depending on whether you file as a sole proprietor or for a corporation. These expenses include: ☐ Mortgage interest (not principal) or rent □ Property tax payments

Capital assets cannot be expensed in the year acquired but record should therefore be kept of the purchase and sale of capital assets. Typical examples would include:

must be depreciated over the period of ownership. A separate

H&R BLOCK

hrblock.ca | 1-800-HRBLOCK (472-5625) basis) including any COVID-19 benefit your business received (CEWS, CEBA, other)